Chinese Riot Against U. S. Over GI Case May Limit Atomic Arms to Big 3 Powers

U. S. Seeks Red Pact With Plan New London Move Still Under Study

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The United States is trying to negotiate with Russia a disarmament treaty which would ban atomic weapons for all except the three powers that already have them. They are the United States, Russia and Britain.

This was reported on excellent authority today as Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament negotiator, carried toward conclusion a round of cabinet-level conferences on the next American move to be made in the London disarmament talks.

Returning Sunday

Stassen takes part later today in a meeting at the State Department with Secretary Dulles and top officials of the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), and other key agencies.

He plans to leave Sunday afternoon for the resumption of London negotiations Monday. In succeeding days there, he will put forward the new U. S. decisions to the representatives of Russia, Britain, France and Canada, who makes up the United Nations Disarmament Subcommittee.

Stassen took part yesterday in a meeting of the National Security Council under President Eisenhower's direction. He and Dulles later reported to Senate leaders on the status of negotiations and on the developing United States policy.

First Step Serious

Stassen told the senators this country in involved in a "serious negotiation" on what he called a "first step agreement" for limited disarmament.

If such an agreement succeeds, presumably later negotiations could broaden it, perhaps to include limitations on nuclear weapons for the big powers.

One of his aims in talking with Senate leaders obviously was to seek support for the administration.

Two Ex-Convicts Held in Robbery Try, Third Sought

New York, May 25 (AP)—Two ex-convicts were charged today with the attempted armed robbery of a $130,000 payroll in the Grand Central Terminal building. An alarm is out for a third man.

Acting on an underworld tip, police converged on the third floor of the Terminal building yesterday and picked up Paul Pacia, 38, of (96-38 42nd Ave.) Elmhurst, Queens, and Martin Shannon, alias Edward Quinn, 38, of Manhattan.

The two men were captured without a shot being fired. Between them, police said, Pacia and Shannon carried guns, a Hal-loween type mask, a pillow case, and a lot of tape.

The 13-state alarm is out for a third man who fled outside the New York Central Railroad payroll office when police closed in. He was identified as Francis Joseph Smith, about 50, of (41-03 52nd St.) Woodside, Queens.

Police said they believed the men had been involved in a series of holdups, including unspecified bank robberies in Queens.

They said a .38 caliber revolver found on Pacia had been taken from Harry Pacifico, a guard, of (73-12 35th Ave.) Jackson Heights, Queens, in a $20,000 payroll robbery on the lower east side of Manhattan in March, 1956.

Deputy Chief Inspector Edward T. Feeley said Shannon had a record of 15 arrests for assault and other offenses, and Pacia 10, including 5 or 6 for burglary or robbery.

Pacia, Feeley said, was freed in 1955 on parole which does not expire for another 18 years. Shannon paid $3,350 in fines as a scowling on 165 parking tickets last Nov. 5, and when arrested yesterday was free in $2,500 bail on a felonious assault charge brought last Jan. 25, Feeley said.

Dr. Shea Elected Head Of Mental Health Board

Dr. Edward F. Shea was unanimously elected chairman of the new Ulster County Mental Health Board at an organizational meeting held Wednesday evening.

The meeting was held at the request of Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, for the purpose of organization. The meeting was held at the court house at 8:30 and in addition to Chairman Relyea the following members of the Mental Health Board were in attendance:

Dr. Edward F. Shea, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Dr. Kenneth H. LeFever, County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, Herbert M. Siller, Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, and Edward E. Murray, county welfare commissioner.

In opening the meeting Mr. Relyea pointed out the need for early action by the board on its task of planning for an effective and economical clinic program for the prevention and treatment of mental illness in Ulster county.

If a mental clinic is to operate in 1958, a program and an itemized budget must be reviewed and approved by the board of supervisors in time for inclusion in the 1958 county budget which will be drawn up in the fall of 1957.

Following the selection of Dr. Shea as chairman he outlined briefly the program and budgets of clinics already in operation in counties throughout the state, concentrating on those counties comparable in population to Ulster.

21 Counties Plan

Altogether, there are now 21 counties, of which Ulster is one, which have established or are planning for local mental health services. Fifty per cent of the (Continued on Page 7, Col. 3)

Six-Quarters Plan Is Voted by Supervisors

Eligible officers and employees of the County of Ulster by a vote of 205 out of a possible 283 employees voted for a six quarters retroactive payment system for Social Security under which they will be brought by the county, effective June 16, 1956.

Under recent legislation county employees who have been under the State Retirement System may also come under the coverage of Social Security.

At the regular May meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors a committee was named to circulate the various departments to determine which plan was favored by a majority of the employees affected. Jesse McHugh (R) was named chairman of the committee with Robert F. Phinney (R), Peter Williams (R) and John C. Quimby (D). There were three alternate plans, one for six quarters retroactive, one for four quarters retroactive and one for no retroactive feature.

283 Return Papers

A total of 283 employees returned their questionnaires and a tabulation of the vote showed: In favor of six quarters retroactive 205.

In favor of four quarters retroactive 4.

In favor of no retroactive feature 5.

Twenty-four were returned stating that the employee was either not interested or already covered by Social Security.

Recommend Adoption

In view of the preponderance in favor of the six quarters retroactive feature, the committee recommended that plan be adopted, and "that the County of Ulster pursuant to Section 218 of the Federal Social Security Act and Article 3 of the Retirement and Social Security Law, provide old age and survivors insurance coverage for eligible officers and employees effective June 16, 1956."

That resolution was offered and unanimously approved. At the opening of the session Chairman Charles Relyea announced future meetings would be opened with a moment of silent prayer. A proposal was made some time ago to open each session of the board with prayer by a local clergyman but it was found difficult to have a clergyman present at the sessions. The moment of silent prayer was then adopted.

Court Rules Lanza Tape May Be Used

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—The Court of Appeals held today that legislative investigators could make public a tape recording that figured in the Joseph (Socks) Lanza parole scandal.

In a 4-3 decision, the state's highest tribunal refused to enjoin the Legislature's "watch-dog" committee from disclosing a tape-recorded conversation between Lanza and his attorney in the course of its probe of the Lanza case.

Opinion Divided

A sharp division in opinion in the high court was indicated in the fact that four separate opinions were issued with the decision.

The recording is of a conversation between Lanza and Attorney Sylvester Cosentino. It was made by the Westchester county sheriff's department under supervision of officials of the State Parole Division, while Lanza was being held in the Westchester County Jail for investigation of charges that he violated parole.

Subsequent dismissals of two separate investigations designed to determine whether a political "fix" might have been involved.

Secrecy Is Point

The State Supreme Court held that the tape recording might not be made public, sustaining Cosentino's objection that this would violate the secrecy of the lawyer-client relationship.

But the Appellate Division reversed this decision and Cosentino and Lanza then appealed to the Court of Appeals.

In the majority opinion, Associate Judge Charles W. Frossell asserted that the court could "find no authority, constitutional or statutory, empowering the courts to enjoin the Legislature in the assumed fact pattern of this case."

"To claim inherent power here," he continued, "is nothing more than an assumption of power on the part of one branch of the government as against a coordinate branch."

Frossell maintained that the Legislative Committee was in the best position to determine from the facts in the case what type of action it should take.

"The responsibility for such action is that of the committee and the Legislature," he asserted. "Accordingly, we hold that" (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Good Code, Sprinklers Top Protection: Brett

Charging that modern building codes allow the construction of "firetraps," and that preferential insurance rates are so low that the installation of sprinkler systems is discouraged, Fire Chief James M. Brett of the Kingston Fire Department warned members of the Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon that a serious conflagration locally "could happen at any time."

Speaking on the topic of fire service in a growing community, Chief Brett opened his remarks with the thought that the reason for a fire department was "to make money." He pointed out that a fire department was the greatest investment the citizens of a community could make—that "it brings a 30-to-1 return."

The reason for this apparently exceptional return on an investment was cited as the A-rating enjoyed by Kingston in the current insurance rates. A city without a fire department would have a cover rating which would triple the cost of insurance, the Chief said.

Facts showing that fire companies or departments were originally established by the insurance companies themselves to prevent conflagrations were pointed out by Chief Brett. Communities eventually inaugurated their own fire departments in exchange for preferential rates from the original insurance company owners. This change gradually led to the establishment of the National Board of Fire Underwriters which was set up to "keep risks in tune with the times," to test devices and set up standards and building codes for overall protection.

"Protection of human life is the first consideration of the fireman," according to Chief Brett. Predicated upon this fact, the Multiple Dwelling Law was set up—"which has hurt no one but has not afforded the protection of human life that it should."

Chief Brett revealed that a survey of the City of Kingston in 1939 by the National Board of Fire Underwriters revealed that there should be 122 paid personnel on the local fire department. The Kingston Fire Department numbers 49 paid men, with 13 of them responding to a first alarm of fire. With this small force, the insurance rating for the city remains in the A classification, which indicates that the local fire department is "doing a reasonable job with a small force."

In the face of this understaffed operation Chief Brett charged that the modern building codes were allowing the construction of "fire traps"—that once Kingston had fire-safe buildings "but such is not the case today." He illustrated this point with reference to the use of drop ceilings in public buildings, which are not fire-safe according to professional fire fighters. Lack of provision for ventilation in case of fire, which is second only to the use of water to the fire fighter, is one of the features not considered in modern building codes, the chief said.

Installation of sprinkler systems in public buildings was advocated by Chief Brett, but promoted by this safety feature was difficult because of the low insurance rates which in turn made the installation of a sprinkler system expensive. In (Continued on Page 7, Col. 7)

Sale to Person Intoxicated Is Basis for Suit

Four verdicts totaling $40,156.60 were returned late Thursday evening in Supreme Court by a jury which heard testimony in the first case ever tried in Ulster county for violation of Section 16 of the Civil Rights Law, alleging that a tavern proprietor sold intoxicants to a person already under the influence of liquor and that act resulted in an accident.

The case Thursday involved the death of four local people who were killed when the car, operated by James Milano, a truck driver, struck a tree at the junction of Routes 23-a and 32-a near Palenville on October 4, 1953.

Four Lose Lives

Killed in the accident was James Milano, driver of the car. Harry R. Playford, Rose Marie Bohan and Agnes Gillespie, all occupants of the Milano car.

The actions were brought individually by the wife of Milano, and the parents or guardians of the other three persons.

Intoxicants Blamed

It was alleged that sale of the intoxicants to a person already under the influence of liquor was an act contributing to the accident and was also a violation of the New York State Alcoholic Beverage Control Law, which prohibits sale of intoxicants to a person who is considered to have already had sufficient liquor.

The four actions were brought by Jean Milano, individually and as guardian ad litem of her two children, James R. Milano Jr., and Deborah Ann Milano; Rose Marie Bohan, individually and as administratrix of Harry R. Playford, deceased, and Emma Playford, deceased, and Agnes Gillespie, individually and as administratrix of Louis Perich, individually and doing business as Mount Melody Inn at Palenville.

Leave at 1:45 A. M.

On October 3, 1953, James Milano, a truckdriver, with Harry R. Playford, Rose Marie Bohan and Agnes Gillespie, all of Kingston went to the Melody Inn at Palenville where they spent the evening. At about 1:45 a. m. on October 4, they left the place in the Milano car. At the junction of routes 23-a and 32-a, on the outskirts of Palenville, the car struck a tree with such force that all four passengers were killed and the motor of the car was driven 75 feet past the point of accident.

Testimony was offered to the effect that the party had been dancing at the Inn from about 9:30 until 1:45 a. m. Sunday morning and during that time Milano had been drinking. The two women had been drinking soda and Playford, it was testified had been drinking alcoholic beverages.

Car Hits Tree

About a mile and a half from the Inn the car struck the tree, all four were killed.

Actions were brought individually by Jean Milano, wife of deceased and her two children. Milano was separated from his wife at the time but was contributing to their support. Mrs. (Continued on Page 7, Col. 6)

Nine Yanks Are Hurt In Formosa

Attack Embassy, Flag Taken Down

Taipei, Formosa, May 24 (AP)—Chinese mobs went on an anti-American rampage today, ravaging the U. S. Embassy and Information Office, besieging a military headquarters and chasing Americans on the street.

Nine Americans were injured. The American flag was hauled down from the embassy flagpole and torn to shreds.

100 Are Besieged

Thousands of Chinese, worked up to a frenzy by the acquittal of a U. S. Army sergeant who killed a Chinese peeping tom, stormed the embassy, and spent most of the afternoon tossing broken furniture and torn documents through the windows.

The disorders spread and the mobs tried to invade the U. S. Military Communications Center in the Sugar building. About 100 Americans slammed down the storm gate and were besieged inside.

Another mob assaulted the U. S. Information Service Office and ransacked it in the same pattern as at the embassy. Furniture, papers, typewriters and equipment were wrecked and tossed out of the windows.

About 1,000 demonstrators formed before a police station in downtown Taipei.

May Order Curfew

Informed sources said Chinese authorities were preparing to proclaim a state of siege or a curfew as a result of the worst anti-American disorders since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek escaped here with the remnants of his Nationalist forces in 1949.

U. S. authorities advised all American personnel to stay indoors. The British consul issued similar advice to Britons.

Tonight three lines of defense were set up around the American embassy—military police in a hand-to-hand chain in the outer ring, civilian police in a middle cordon and troops in an inside line. White armored cars were stationed at strategic points. Guards were rushed to other American installations and (Continued on Page 7, Col. 4)

He succeeds Chester Diffley, who recently received an award recognizing him as the outstanding local president in New York state of the Jaycee movement.

Also elected with President Shults were:

Seymour Werbalowsky, local attorney, as vice-president.
George Moore of IBM, secretary.

Robert Carlson, local insurance agent, treasurer.

He also has served in other civic matters including finance chairman of the Jaycee Little League for three years, director of the Kingston Community Chest for three years an organization in which he played a vital role in its organization. Large Milton Barn Burns, Electrical Storm Blamed

A large barn on the property of Yme Engles, Milton turnpike, Milton, was completely destroyed by fire, apparently caused by an electrical storm, early today.

Chief John J. Matarazo of the Milton Fire Department said damage was unestimated.

The barn, located about three miles from the village of Milton, contained farm tools, ladders and a garden tractor, the chief said.

A spray rig and farm tractor were in a nearby orchard at the time of the fire and were not damaged, he reported.

The alarm was sounded at 2:30 a. m. by Mr. Engles who, the chief said, awoke and saw the flashing light of the fire through his bedroom window.

Chief Matarazo said the Engles residence, located about 150 feet from the barn, was not threatened since the wind was blowing in the opposite direction.

The fire, he said, apparently was caused by "lightning during a bad electrical storm," which covered the Milton area at the time of the alarm.

The barn was almost destroyed by flames at the arrival of the Milton department, the chief said, and firemen were unable to salvage anything in the structure.

The recall was sounded at 3:45 a. m.

Keen Interest Shown In New Guild Gallery

Woodstock, May 23—Visitors to the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen's Galleries this week will find keen interest and inspiration in the current art showing.

Several new elements combine to make this the Galleries' outstanding exhibition to date. Ten artists whose names are new to the Galleries are showing their work, and on display, also, are some of the rare ceramic pieces remaining in the estate of Carl Waters, including bowls, plaques, plates, necklaces and earrings.

John Pike's large watercolor, "Pool Above the Rapids," is attracting much attention, along with Max Houghland's "Tea Party," Doris Lee's "Magnifying Glass," and "Abstraction," by Sunshine Trankler, James Turnbull's "Tiara Bird" is an ingenious and beautiful work in enamel and metal.

Among the familiar names in the exhibition are: Mollie Higgins Smith, Frances Stein, Robert Angeloch, Mark Vukovic, Konrad Cramer, Earle Winslow, Carolyn Haebler, Reginald Wilson, Lucie Bayard, Alfeo Faggi, Tomas Penning, Anton Otto Fischer, Agnes Bierhals, Neil Ives, Kurt Sluizer, Dudley Summer, Rodney Lethbridge, Frank Chase, Zulma Parker, Valerie Swenson, Eugene McEvoy, Sam Wylie, Arnold Blanch, Elizabeth Voiceske, Elfrede Borkmann, Frieda Mangels, Kate Meyer, Gloja Webster, Helen Bower, Anna Carolan, Therese Kessel, Mabel Briggs, Marion Bullard, Madeline Wiltz, Gertrude Mandel, John Carlson and Howard Mandel.

Reformed Church Services Scheduled

Woodstock, May 23—The sermon topic of the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, at the 11 a. m. service of worship, Sunday in the Reformed Church, will be "The One on Our Side." A nursery is provided for younger children.

Sunday school meets 9:30 a. m., and the Christian Endeavor Society 8 p. m.

According to the Rev. Mr. Todd, someone has insinuated that recent pictures of Mrs. Jarley's wax works figures, shown in the press last week were "phony," and that living people in the flesh are to mimic wax-works. The Rev. Mr. Todd suggests that the only way to prove the validity of this is to see the wax works display at the Town Hall.

"We will venture to predict that anyone who has the intelligence to understand what is meant by wax works will easily determine what these figures are and need not use a pin, as Mrs. Jarley may suggest, to prove it. The program is under the direction of the men of the Woodstock Reformed Church."

Scout Paper Drive

Woodstock, May 23—The Boy Scouts of Troop 34 will continue to collect newspapers, bottles and scrap metal Saturday. It was found impossible to cover the community completely last Saturday, and it is hoped that no inconvenience to residents has been caused by the delay in reaching everyone. So far the volume of material is much larger than expected.

Home Unit Hears Seashell Lecture

Woodstock, May 23—An absorbing illustrated lecture by Dr. William K. Gregory, curator emeritus of the Museum of Natural History, on "What Makes Seashells so Beautiful" was heard by a large group of women of the Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit last Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Hall.

Using some of his most beautiful specimens, Dr. Gregory explained how the little animal creates its own shell, the amazing dexterity with which the beautiful curves and layers are expanded, and how the years of development can be determined. From his extensive collection of shells from every part of the world, Dr. Gregory had arranged a glowingly lovely setup of superb pieces to show the lovely pinks, greys and ivory hues which may be found in sea shells. "The life of a shell," he said, "is not without basic similarity to people."

The unit will sponsor another bus trip to New York, Thursday, June 6, leaving Woodstock at 8 a. m., and New York city at 8 p. m. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Elsie Ertz, Woodstock.

Savings Banks Deposits

New York, May 24—Deposits in the nation's 526 mutual savings banks increased $7,000,000 during April 1957, to reach a new high of $30,468,000,000, according to Charles J. Lyon, newly-elected president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks and president and treasurer, Society for Savings, Hartford, Connecticut. A decrease of $11,000,000 in regular deposits was more than offset by a gain of $18,000,000 in club and other special purpose accounts. The dollar deposit increase compares with a gain of $45,000,000 in April 1956.

But the overall toll for the first four months of 1957 was 597, still below the 616 total for January-April 1956.

Kelly called the increase "especially discouraging" because it had almost wiped out a good start in the first two months of the year.

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today appointed Rob Roy MacLeod, vice president of Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., as chairman of the sixth in a series of regional conferences on employer opportunities for aging workers. The conference will be held in Buffalo on June 18.

Albany, N. Y., May 24—A Spokane, Wash., contractor has been announced as low bidder on a $634,680 project for construction work for double chair lifts at the new Adirondack ski development at Whiteface Mountain.

FULTON'S ANNIVERSARY

Robert Fulton's Clermont made its historic maiden voyage up the Hudson River in 1807—the first successful application of steam to navigation on the Hudson—and the 150th anniversary of the occasion will be commemorated June 1 and 2 by the New York State Bridge Authority and the Hudson River Day Line.

The sponsoring organizations also will observe individual anniversaries this year. The Bridge Authority will celebrate its 25th year of service and the Day Line its 135th.

The Day Line will mark the historic event by scheduling the Peter Stuyvesant, its luxury liner, for a round trip from New York to Albany on both days. The Bridge Authority's four bridges, which span the Hudson between New York and Albany, will be decked with bunting.

The Authority will encourage tourists to participate in the anniversary celebration at this time, the opening of the vacation season, and at the same time avail themselves of the wonders of the Hudson River Valley.

In 1909 Kingston together with other communities along the Hudson River participated in the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson River by Henry Hudson and the 100th anniversary of Robert Fulton's first voyage up the river. The event was known then as the Hudson-Fulton Celebration since it was within two years of the centennial of the Clermont's first voyage in 1807.

Will the Hudson Valley be missing an opportunity if it doesn't celebrate in 1959 the 350th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson and the 150th anniversary of the sailing of the first steam vessel?

The possibility of the 1959 commemoration was discussed at a forum in Albany recently and the following basic conclusions arrived at by the members of the panel: The celebration would have to include the entire Hudson Valley; full cooperation of New York City would be absolutely essential; a major share of the financing would have to be borne by the state and/or federal governments; tied in with the Lake Champlain celebration the Hudson-Fulton anniversary would justify a national campaign promoting a wide swath of New York State all the way from Staten Island to Rouses Point.

Many cities and regions seem to believe that commemorating history is good business. Jamestown is spending several million dollars to celebrate the 350th anniversary of the first colonizing effort on American soil. A large sum also is being spent in sending to Plymouth, Mass., a replica of the Mayflower and along Lake Champlain communities in two states are pooling their efforts to observe in 1959 the 350th anniversary of the lake's discovery.

In the 1909 commemoration in Kingston, 10,000 people gathered for the parade and exercises on the final day and there were large turnouts for the other events during the three-day celebration. Since that gala event 50 years ago, there are many new factors involved.

If it is felt that another major observance is both practical and desirable, preparations should be started without further delay.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

Though they have a good deal more real income, higher living standards and are rated larger in frame and stature, Americans today consume just about the same amount of food per person per year as people did around 1900.

The content of our diet, however, has changed greatly in that time. Fifty-odd years ago bread and cereals accounted for 37 per cent of the average calory intake, and starches generally were a diet mainstay. Today the flour-cereal category comes to just 10 per cent of the total per capita consumption.

Today Americans eat considerably more beef, eggs, vegetables, citrus fruits and

THE MONEY PRIZE

Each generation discovers what has long existed as something startlingly new. Labor racketeering seems such a new discovery in the year 1957, although it has been usual in American labor for a century. Back in the days of the Knights of Labor, there was a racket called the Home Club which while posing as a labor organization actually worked for the bosses. These days it would be called a company union. The building trades back in the early days were particularly notorious because the business agents of the unions speeded up or slowed down work according to the deals that were made with them personally.

The kick-back was an old form of union racketeering. The kick-back was, in effect, a reduction in wages, part of it going to the foreman or a book-keeper, but eventually making its way into the pockets of the boss. A kick-back is impossible unless the officials of the labor union agreed to it and for such an agreement they got a rake-off. There are all sorts of ways of turning union activity into petty private enterprise.

Today the kick-back would be chicken feed because wherever there is a closed shop or a union shop, the take is so big that union officials, except those way down the line, would not bother with such small amounts.

By singling out Dave Beck and his union as corrupt, some of the labor leaders are sure that they have taken the monkeys off their own backs, which is something we still have to see. What is necessary is a complete, overall study of the money prize in American trade unionism. When a labor leader has absolute and personal control of a quarter of a billion dollars of public funds, for which he is in no manner bound to account, then he is a dangerous person because he can use that money honestly or corruptly at will. No citizen other than labor leaders are so empowered. No group could accumulate such funds without Treasury supervision and control.

The claim is constantly being made that certain labor leaders work with the "mob" and that others do not. The term, mob, is intended to give the impression that sinister forces, gangsters, racketeers, murderers have formed a conspiracy with labor leaders to control the production and distribution of goods. Again, it is nothing new in American labor relations and the unions which are now praised for their purity have a long history of such associations. In fact, the garment industry of New York which these days is praised as superior to Dave Beck's teamsters at one stage found gangsters on both the union and industry side.

It is supposed to be high strategy in labor circles to speak well of certain labor leaders and to denounce others because of their relations to the "mob." Taking the history of all the unions, over all the years of their existence, it is impossible to discover such puritanism as we are now asked to recognize. It is the repetition of the big lie that makes such labor leaders little angels in 1957 who were quite devilish in the 1930's. Are we all supposed to lose our memories?

Until the money prize in trade unionism is abolished, so that being a labor leader ceases to be a profitable enterprise but becomes a job with a fixed salary and nothing more—until that happens, the money prize in labor union leadership becomes a lodestone for a political type of individual who unites with others of the same kind to seek power, other money. Some work for both. But no labor leader can afford, under present circumstances, to live among his fellows strictly on his salary without an expense account and without access to strike funds, educational funds and welfare funds. A close analysis of the political expenditures of unions is more important nationally than Dave Beck's Fifth Amendment pleas.

The enormous money power of these labor leaders is having the same effect upon politics as the use of money by big business in the 1890's. In fact, it is getting so that in many places the only people with ready cash are labor leaders and those who work the angles. It gives a man power to have ready cash these days.

That Body of Yours

THE COBALT BOMB

We have had on this continent for some years that important method of treating cancer—the cobalt bomb—yet I do not recall ever reading very much about it or its method of operation. In Postgraduate Medicine there is a report from Spain which received its first cobalt bomb to be used in the treatment of malignant tumors last January. It was purchased from the Atomic Energy Commission in Canada by the Rubert Clinic in Madrid where it will be installed and put into operation. An annex to the clinic has been built to house the new apparatus in accordance with international regulations governing installations of nuclear energy. The new installation has a chamber re-inforced with cement 27½ inches thick, a waiting room for patients, a doctor's office, and a control room. Doors leading to these rooms are plated with lead to prevent radiation.

This cobalt bomb, known technically as the Co60, is the strongest built up to this time. It weighs over 5,000 pounds but contains only about 7 ounces of cobalt; the remaining weight is that of the mechanism for its application and of the protective covering. The bomb will lose 50 per cent of its force in five years and one month. Two additional bombs will be purchased in the near future.

The principal advantage of treatment by the cobalt bomb are: (1) Its greater penetration permits destruction of tumors regardless of how deeply imbedded they may be. This is a great advantage in treating cancer in overweight people. Formerly, when bone or cartilage lay in the path of radiation, that tissue absorbed a great part of it; thus the amount reaching the tumor was lessened. With the cobalt bomb, bone and cartilage absorb no more of the radiation than does the soft tissue. (2) Its maximum radiation is projected a short distance under the skin rather than only onto its surface. Thus the skin ceases to be a limiting factor in treatment with radiation. (3) It is better tolerated by patients than is the usual X-ray treatment and no cases of so-called radiation sickness have been observed.

Radiation supplied by the bomb equals that of an X-ray machine operating on 3,000,000 V. The strongest such machine that Spain has had up to the present was 400,000 V. Its greatest advantage will be obtained in such tumors as those in the brain and spinal column which are surrounded by bone; in the throat, which is surrounded by cartilage; in the mouth where radiation must pass through the jaw bone, and in the lungs and esophagus (gullet).

Treatment of malignant (cancerous) tumors remains the same; application of as much radiation as healthy tissue surrounding the tumor will stand. The one drawback is that malignant tumors on the surface of the body cannot be treated with it.

milk. This diet is at once more suitable for body needs and more expensive. And the changes it represents help explain why in recent years the country has built up such enormous grain surpluses.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — Well, the Senate Banking and Currency Committee finally cut 375 million dollars of the 2,225-billion-dollar total of the House-passed, omnibus housing aid bill for next year. But this isn't exactly an economy.

The total on the Senate version of the housing bill now stands at 1,850 million dollars. This is 975 million more than the Eisenhower administration had originally recommended for new housing aids.

What a housing bill of this size would do is cancel out nearly a billion of the 1.4 billion dollars which the House of Representatives has "saved" on the first nine appropriation bills it has approved so far.

EVEN SO, THE Senate housing bill could have been far worse and almost was.

The Senate's Housing subcommittee under Alabama's John Sparkman originally reported out a bill which would have cost a whopping 3.4 billion dollars in new obligatory authority.

Fortunately, from the economy point of view, the full Senate Banking and Currency Committee under Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) knocked out a billion-dollar increase in Federal National Mortgage Assn. borrowing authority, a big public housing program and a new 750-million-dollar temporary aid for veterans' housing.

Senator Sparkman's housing subcommittee is going to consider this GI housing aid again. There's no telling what will come out. But the way the Senate bill shapes up now, it will go to the floor with these main spending provisions:

FOR COOPERATIVE housing—250 million dollars more.

Housing for elderly people, large families, minority groups and displaced people—a new 250 million dollars.

College housing—200 million dollars, up 50 million.

Military housing—200 million dollars, down 100 million.

New Federal National Mortgage Assn. borrowing authority—500 million dollars, 150 million above administration requests.

Urban renewal funds—250 million dollars a year for four years, with the federal government paying three-fourths of costs.

Presidential funds for disaster housing—150 million.

NONE OF THESE figures is final. The Senate will act on the above committee recommendations. There will be a conference next with the House of Representatives on their bill. A compromise will be worked out.

But it now seems fairly obvious that the final total will be around two billion dollars. This would be more than a billion dollars above what the Eisenhower budget called for.

The interesting thing about this is why Congress reverses the economy trend.

The answer among private housing industry experts is that it is a protest against the administration tight-money policy.

The way they see it, high interest rates put a curb on the housing industry.

The U. S. housing industry is now in position to build around a million new housing units a year. Any curtailment of from 10,000 to 100,000 units a year throws a lot of people out of work.

Liberalizing government housing aids is expected to have a considerable psychological effect. Money for housing loans won't be so tight. And interest rates should come down.

The new attitude of Congress is not considered the result of any lobby pressure in Washington. The distress of home state builders and material suppliers—many of them small businessmen who were in trouble—was felt by many congressmen.

Nixon Praised for Stress On Defense-Cut Dangers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 24 — Vice-President Nixon thinks that the biggest danger that confronts the free world today is not a defeat in a shooting war—he believes America can win such a war—but the infiltration and penetration by the Communists in the "uncommitted" countries, with 700,000,000 people.

Mr. Nixon, who spoke on the Federal budget in Chicago on April 30 and in Hartford, Conn., on May 14, has just delivered his third plan in behalf of President Eisenhower. Having recently come back from some of the underdeveloped areas of the world, the Vice-President portrays vividly the situation there in relation to the security of the United States.

Warns on Defense Cuts

Mr. Nixon points out that critics of the Federal budget have overlooked a salient fact—that "30 per cent of the increase is directly attributable to the higher prices the government has to pay for both material and personnel." But his most significant statement, which is a challenge as well as a disclosure of what's going on in Washington, was couched in even more pointed phrases, as follows: "Unless Congress decides to discontinue domestic programs it previously has approved, budget cuts as high as five to six billion dollars, which some have suggested, cannot be made unless the items for national defense are substantially reduced. Any one who contends otherwise is just kidding himself and the public as well—because approximately 75 per cent of the entire Federal budget goes for the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission, interest on the national debt, foreign aid and other defense-related items."

Aid Outlay Called Vital

Mr. Nixon contends that any cut of the defense budget below 38 billions would be "a reckless and foolhardy action which on sober reflection the American people will not and should not support." He adds that the four billions to be spent in mutual security programs and economic assistance are "as essential a part of our national defense as the 38 billion we spend for our Army, Navy and Air Force at home." He argues that, despite waste and mistakes "we are getting more for our money in security for the United States in what we are spending abroad than we are in what we are spending at home."

The Vice-President predicts that the Communists will obtain a strong hold on the "uncommitted" countries unless America gets there first and wins the people to our side. The expenditure of about one billion dollars in that field, out of the four billion for foreign aid, is supported by him as a necessary risk to be taken in the "cold war" because the stakes are so important. He declares that there is "no expenditure being made by our government which is more essential to our national security than this one."

Mr. Nixon warns, moreover, that "this is no time to announce to the Communists and the world that we are tired of the struggle."

What the Vice-President didn't refer to in this particular speech, but which the President has emphasized, is that the free countries have spent more than 107 billion dollars for defense against communism since the close of World War 2 and that the United States has furnished them with about 17 billions in assistance. This answers the argument that America is doing it all and that the other nations are not as concerned with their own defense against the Communist menace as they should be.

As the debate on the budget goes on, it is apparent that those on the attacking side have generalized that the waste in governmental operations amounts to many billions of dollars and that a tax cut of that sum can be obtained. Actually, it now appears that even the Democratic leaders are unwilling to try to pass a tax-reduction bill at this session of Congress and will not be pinned down as to whether or when they will propose one after next January.

While a tax reduction—if the budget were cut by as much as six billion—would mean a saving to every taxpayer of about $78, it could be at a cost later of such a weakened defense in a possible war, as to wipe out overnight any such saving. For, if a global or limited war ensued, it would draw many times that amount in taxes from the pocketbooks of the taxpayers, even as human lives might be lost. It is to prevent war that the United States wishes to see military and economic strength maintained throughout the free world. (Reproduction Rights Reserved.)

By SAM DAWSON

New York, May 24 (AP)—The rise in the cost of living may be leveling off a little today. But some fires are building up that could put more steam under it months from now like the pressures that caused it to bubble over last year.

Leaders in a number of basic industries are warning that their prices should go up if they are to meet upcoming obligations: Automatic wage scale hikes and funds for expansion they say they need.

More Boosts Coming

Oil wages are going up now. In the next few weeks and months already negotiated wage scale boosts are coming for some or all companies in these industries: Steel, auto, farm equipment, nonferrous metals, meat packing, textile, container, electrical manufacturing, paper and aircraft.

Steel workers have their wage scales hitched to the cost of living index. If its rise, although apparently slowing down a bit now, continues, up will go automatically their operating costs.

Management holds that this makes price rises necessary. Labor leaders, however, point to large earnings of many companies and argue that this shows profit margins to be high enough to absorb the rise in labor costs.

Competition Rising

Industry leaders are insisting they need higher prices although in many industries their production has slackened to well below capacity, which means that competition within the industry is rising.

The price rise arguments are being aired here at the meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute—on both the wage hike and expansion fund requirement fronts.

Steelworkers get a raise automatically July 1. Management says that counting everything it will mean a rise in costs of more than 20 cents an hour, although the unions challenge this figure.

Some companies talk of a rise in steel prices of $5 a ton, but others say that it would take $10 a ton to offset fully the rise in costs from the pay boosts of Dallas, Tex. (AP)—Lee Drain, a banker, and his brother Vince, an FBI agent, are dead ringers. So defense attorneys appeared startled over what appeared a "stacked jury" when Lee served on a federal jury. The similarity has fooled others. Lee visited a hospital recently where Vince had just undergone an operation. Nurses who saw him in a corridor tried to run him down and put him to bed.

Pulp Workers Back

Mechanicville, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Workers at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. plant here have returned to their jobs, ending a two-day wildcat strike.

Pickets were withdrawn yesterday afternoon without any announcement from either company or employee spokesmen as to what agreement, if any, had been reached. A company spokesman said there had been no meetings with employees' representatives yesterday. The company said a full shift of 150 worked last night. About the same number had left their jobs Tuesday night after one worker allegedly refused to obey an order from a superior. The walk-out was repudiated twice by the United Mine Workers (Ind.), bargaining again for the workers.

May Limit . . . tion's plans as they develop so that if and when a treaty is actually achieved it will have a good prospect for winning the two-thirds Senate vote necessary for American ratification.

Called Key Points

Meanwhile, reports available here disclosed the following key points as among provisions which the U. S. government would like to see in any such pact:

1. While the basic agreement would be worked out by the five countries meeting at London, provision should be made for other nations to adhere or join the pact. The more countries adhering, the more effective the treaty would be.
2. All the countries joining which do not already have atomic weapons would pledge not to develop or otherwise obtain them. American officials believe that other countries would be willing to accept this restriction in the interest of ending the arms race and devoting their resources to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.
3. The powers would undertake to reduce their present armaments—except for nuclear weapons—between 10 and 15 per cent or by some specified number of types of weapons. The cut would include such weapons as airplanes and missiles capable of delivering atomic or hydrogen bombs, submarines or other warships, tanks and heavy artillery.
4. The weapons to be taken out of the national arsenals would be turned over to one or more internationally controlled disarmament depots where inspectors of the disarmament control system would be stationed. What final disposition would be made of these weapons would have to be worked out.
5. Manpower in the case of Russia and the United States would be cut to 2½ million men each in the armed forces. Their military expenditures would be reduced in keeping with the cutbacks in arms and manpower, and all the reductions would be subject to policing by international inspectors.
6. The United States, Russia and possibly a number of other countries would undertake to set up one or more zones which would be subjected to aerial inspection as well as ground inspection. In the case of a Russian plane flying over United States territory, the plane would enter at a designated port of entry, be inspected and have an American officer taken aboard. The same would apply in reverse to an American plane entering Russian territory.

One of the problems which has been under intensive discussion in the conference this year is where the inspection zones should be located. Both the United States and Russia have made proposals in the disarmament talks previously, but there has been no agreement. American officials generally are reported to believe that if the big powers can resolve their long standing differences on disarmament, many of the world's smaller nations will find no difficulty in joining any pact which they might propose.

Harry T. Sweeney Retires From City Engineering Post

Harry T. Sweeney, of 77 Elmendorf street, who had served in the city's engineering department for 37 years, retired recently after completion of an extension period beyond his regular date of retirement.

Appointed to the department for the first time by Mayor Walter P. Crane, who served his first term from 1907 to 1909, he served the city through most of his career, with the exception of a few years of employment with the county (1923 to 1928) and another short period of employment with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

No Successor Named

A native of Kingston, he attended local grade schools and the former Kingston Academy. He had served the city in various engineering capacities and was assistant engineer at the time of his retirement. No successor to the post has been named.

Besides his service with Arthur F. Hallinan, who has been city engineer for several years, he was employed in the department under E. B. Codwise, his son, G. Wallace Codwise, Henry Darrow and James Norton.

No Further Plans

Appointments to various city departments, before the administration of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman (1934-41) were generally on a temporary basis. In that administration most city positions became permanent under civil service regulations.

Ten years, besides Walter P. Crane, who served part of another term later, (1922-1923) were in office since Mr. Sweeney first became a city employee, and he served under most of them.

Asked today what his future plans were, Mr. Sweeney said, he had not yet decided.

Parolee Killed In Farm Mishap

George Rhodes, 38, a parolee of the Napanoch Institution, was killed Thursday morning on a Claryville, Columbia county, farm when a tractor he was operating overturned.

The Columbia county sheriff's office said Rhodes, who had been employed on Peck's Farm only a day-and-a-half, was driving a tractor and hauling a manure spreader.

Rhodes was crossing railroad tracks in the rear of the farm to reach the fields, the sheriff's office said, when the tractor overturned and pinned him beneath it. He was killed instantly, it was reported.

Columbia county Coroner Robert Near issued a verdict of accidental death due to a broken neck and crushed chest.

Hits Futility

"What plain is complaining of is a violation of their constitutional right." "If the President of the United States can be stayed by the courts from seizing the steel mills during a national emergency," he said, "a New York State legislative committee can be enjoined from a gross violation of a citizen's personal rights, no less valuable."

Desmond declared that to refuse action was a "confession by this court of futility and impotence."

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 24 (AP)—Oils and steels were in demand as the stock market moved higher in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to about a point while selected issues made wider gains. There was a good assortment of losers, notably among the aircrafts.

The market was moving upward moderately toward the latest of its new 1957 highs after three days of mild profit-taking on the prolonged advance.

May Limit . . .

tion's plans as they develop so that if and when a treaty is actually achieved it will have a good prospect for winning the two-thirds Senate vote necessary for American ratification.

Called Key Points
Meanwhile, reports available here disclosed the following key points as among provisions which the U. S. government would like to see in any such pact:

1. While the basic agreement would be worked out by the five countries meeting at London, provision should be made for other nations to adhere or join the pact. The more countries adhering, the more effective the treaty would be.
2. All the countries joining which do not already have atomic weapons would pledge not to develop or otherwise obtain them. American officials believe that other countries would be willing to accept this restriction in the interest of ending the arms race and devoting their resources to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Would Reduce Arms
3. The powers would undertake to reduce their present armaments—except for nuclear weapons—between 10 and 15 percent or by some specified number of types of weapons. The cut would include such weapons as airplanes and missiles capable of delivering atomic or hydrogen bombs, submarines or other warships, tanks and heavy artillery.
4. The weapons to be taken out of the national arsenals would be turned over to one or more internationally controlled disarmament depots where inspectors of the disarmament control system would be stationed. What final disposition would be made of these weapons would have to be worked out.

5. Manpower in the case of Russia and the United States would be cut to 2½ million men each in the armed forces. Their military expenditures would be reduced in keeping with the cutbacks in arms and manpower, and all the reductions would be subject to policing by international inspectors.

6. The United States, Russia and possibly a number of other countries would undertake to set up one or more zones which would be subjected to aerial inspection as well as ground inspection. In the case of a Russian plane flying over United States territory, the plane would enter at a designated port of entry, be inspected and have an American officer taken aboard. The same would apply in reverse to an American plane entering Russian territory.

One of the problems which has been under intensive discussion in the conference this year is where the inspection zones should be located. Both the United States and Russia have made proposals in the disarmament talks previously, but there has been no agreement.

American officials generally are reported to believe that if the big powers can resolve their long standing differences on disarmament, many of the world's smaller nations will find no difficulty in joining any pact which they might propose.

Old Mill Burns
Baldwinsville, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Fire last night destroyed a century-old grist mill and two adjoining buildings, all unused for two years. Fire Chief Howard B. Harrington said he believed the fire had been set deliberately. He asked police to investigate.

Quake Recorded
Weston, Mass., May 24 (AP)—Weston observatory reported today it recorded a "strong" earthquake last night at 10:45:12 (EDT). The Rev. Francis Donohue, S.J., placed the disturbance at about 2,700 miles south of Boston probably in southeast Colombia.

Harry T. Sweeney
Retires From City
Engineering Post

Harry T. Sweeney, of 77 Elmendorf street, who had served in the city's engineering department for 37 years, retired recently after completion of an extension period beyond his regular date of retirement.

Appointed to the department for the first time by Mayor Walter P. Crane, who served his first term from 1907 to 1909, he served the city through most of his career, with the exception of a few years of employment with the county (1923 to 1928) and another short period of employment with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

No Successor Named
A native of Kingston, he attended local grade schools and the former Kingston Academy. He had served the city in various engineering capacities and was assistant engineer at the time of his retirement. No successor to the post has been named.

Besides his service with Arthur F. Hallinan, who has been city engineer for several years, he was employed in the department under E. B. Codwise, his son, G. Wallace Codwise, Henry Darrow and James Norton.

No Further Plans
Appointments to various city departments, before the administration of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman (1934-41) were generally on a temporary basis. In that administration most city positions became permanent under civil service regulations.

Ten mayors, besides Walter P. Crane, who served part of another term later, (1922-1923) were in office since Mr. Sweeney first became a city employee, and he served under most of them.

Asked today what his future plans were, Mr. Sweeney said, he had not yet decided.

Parolee Killed
In Farm Mishap

George Rhodes, 38, a parolee of the Napanoch Institution, was killed Thursday morning on a Claryville, Columbia county, farm when a tractor he was operating overturned.

The Columbia county sheriff's office said Rhodes, who had been employed on Peck's Farm only a day-and-a-half, was driving a tractor and hauling a manure spreader.

Rhodes was crossing railroad tracks in the rear of the farm to reach the fields, the sheriff's office said, when the tractor overturned and pinned him beneath it. He was killed instantly, it was reported.

Columbia county Coroner Robert Near issued a verdict of accidental death due to a broken neck and crushed chest.

Court Rules

drastic remedy of injunction does not lie in this case."
However, Associate Judge Charles F. Desmond held, in a dissenting opinion, that the courts could enjoin the Legislature.

Hits Futility
"What plaintiffs are complaining of is a violation of their constitutional right."
"If the President of the United States can be stayed by the courts from seizing the steel mills during a national emergency," he said, "a New York State legislative committee can be enjoined from a gross violation of a citizen's personal rights, no less valuable."
Desmond declared that to refuse action was a "confession by this court of futility and impotence."

Accord Notes

By JULIUS LUDWIG

Man's Castle

It's an old expression, but a true one; a man's home IS his castle. Give him comfort, and a cheerful smile when he returns home after the day's work — a chance to relax and forget business problems — and you will never have to worry about his whereabouts. By the way, just how comfortable is your home? Is there a good reclining chair? (They can now be had in both traditional and modern styling.) How about end tables and coffee tables? Do you have sufficient lamps, both for proper lighting and for the decorative effect? Are your sofa and chairs comfortable and attractive, or are they old and sagging and drab? It's surprising how just one new piece can give a lift to an old tired room. Not to mention the lift to one's own spirits. Try it and see.

At the Accord Furniture & TV Mart on Route 209 in Accord (just a short pleasant drive from Kingston) you will find on display name brand furniture bearing such famous names as Pennsylvania House, Kroehler, Valentine Seaver, Sealy, Barcalo, Englander, and many others. All at guaranteed lowest prices. You are cordially invited to browse at will through the Mart show-rooms daily to 5:30, Saturdays to 7, and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 6.

State's Highest

preme Court heard arguments in the case on April 15.

Three Instances

Davison says he knows of only three instances in which the nation's highest court has been asked to take such action against a state's highest court, none of them involving the New York tribunal. The Supreme Court refused to do so in each instance.

The Background of This Unusual Case

In 1952, the town of Somers in Westchester county, foreclosed tax liens on four pieces of property owned by Miss Brainerd, 60, whom Covey claims was mentally incapable of handling her own affairs.

The liens were taken after Miss Brainerd failed to pay delinquent taxes on the property despite repeated notices mailed to her.

Committed to Hospital

Shortly after the property was foreclosed, she was adjudged by the county court to be mentally incompetent and committed to the Harlem Valley State Hospital.

Since she had no relatives, Covey was appointed by the court to supervise her property. Covey filed a motion in the county court, where the foreclosure proceedings had been instituted, to set aside the judgment on the ground that the court had not been told of Miss Brainerd's mental condition.

He contended that, because she was incapable of understanding the tax delinquency notices mailed to her, she had been deprived of her property in violation of constitutional guarantees of due process. The county court rejected his motion on the ground that the state tax law requires a separate court suit in such case, instead of filing a motion in another case.

Decision Upheld

The Appellate Division upheld this decision, as did the Court of Appeals, without opinion. The U. S. Supreme Court then ordered reversal of the Court of Appeals, holding that the manner in which Miss Brainerd was notified of her tax delinquency was inadequate because of her mental condition.

After reargument of the case, the Court of Appeals reaffirmed its original stand. This time it issued an opinion, saying it agreed that the notice was inadequate but that it was obliged to reject Covey's appeal because his manner of bringing suit was improper.

Covey now contends that the Court of Appeals failed to carry out the U. S. Supreme Court's finding. Davison maintains the court acted properly and that Covey was at fault because he did not file a separate suit as required by the state tax law.

Dewey Special Counsel

A train carrying 366 stockholders traveled from New York city to the Albany meeting which was held in the Palace Theater.

Perlman walked through the train shaking hands with stockholders, the Associated Press reported, and was shepherded by former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, serving as special counsel for the meeting, "who had a hard time getting Perlman to move along."

Hits Regulations

At the theater meeting Perlman hit at government transportation regulation which, he said, was "so archaic that it has made common carriage of passengers and goods the most poorly compensated activity in our whole economy."

Perlman sharply criticized the New York State Public Service Commission. The commission recently granted the Central a 15 per cent fare increase on some of its New York city commuter lines. The road had asked for a 32 per cent increase.

Six Quarters Plan

Church Bridge, was awarded to Anthony Costanzi, Kingston, $104,609. Other bidders were I. & O. A. Slutsky, Inc. of Hunter, $106,263; Shanahan Construction Company, Ellenville, $119,657 and Larsen-Johnson, Inc., Stone Ridge, $124,290.

A contract was also awarded the Smith-Parish Company of Kingston for a new roof on the Gage street county garage for the sum of $2,270. J. A. Roofing company bid $2,400.

The board adjourned to meet on Thursday, June 13, at 8 p. m.

April Living Costs at Peak

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The government reported today that living costs rose to another new record level in April for the eighth straight month. A sharp rise in food prices was a major factor.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its index increased from March to April by three-tenths of one per cent.

Automatic Boosts

This was enough to give automatic pay boosts of two cents an hour to 1,400,000 workers in the auto, electrical and farm equipment manufacturing industries.

Wage rates of these workers are partly geared by union contracts to changes in the government living cost index. The more than one million auto workers will also get a six-cent hourly boost on May 29. This was previously negotiated.

In addition to the rise in food costs, prices of most other major groups of consumer goods and services also rose in April. Clothing was the only major group showing a decline for the month, apparently due to the post Easter price declines.

Food Prices Up

Food alone rose one-half of one per cent with meats, fresh fruits and vegetables all showing increases.

The over-all living cost index rose to 119.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is 3.8 per cent higher than April, 1956. The new living cost level means that it now costs about $1.20 to buy what could be bought with a dollar in the 1947-49 era.

Dr. Shea Elected

cost of such services is reimbursable to counties under terms of the Community Mental Health Services Act, passed by the state legislature in 1954.

Discussion continued with a consideration of difficulties to be faced in obtaining trained personnel. The board agreed on a tentative plan for a clinic team of four or five, to include one full or part time psychiatrist, one psychologist, one or two psychiatric social workers and a clerical assistant.

Talk About Site

The problem of a site for establishing a clinic was discussed at length and a number of locations were mentioned. The Rev. Father Farrelly stressed the importance of an adequate number of rooms to insure quiet and privacy during patient interviews. Drs. LeFever and Hargrave were appointed as a committee of two to explore possible clinic locations further and report back to the board.

Chairman Shea pointed out that expert counsel would be available program and budget planning from representatives of the State Mental Hygiene Department as well as from the New York State Association of Community Mental Health Boards.

He urged that the Ulster County Board appoint a delegate to represent them in the association. Dr. LeFever made a motion, seconded by Mr. Siller, that Dr. Shea be appointed as delegate. This motion was carried.

To Meet Soon

The board agreed to convene again in approximately two weeks, at which time it is hoped that a representative of the Mental Hygiene Department can be present in an advisory capacity.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:30 p. m.

Brooklyn Woman Killed

Frederick, Md., May 24 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., woman was killed and her husband injured today when their car collided with an oil tank truck and burst into flames. Pronounced dead at Frederick Memorial Hospital was Mrs. Paul Stendardi, 35 of (897 Union street) Brooklyn. Her husband was hospitalized with possible chest injuries and lacerations of the face. His condition was listed as fair.

Chinese Riot

to American homes, especially in outlying areas.

Two Hospitalized

Two of the Americans injured in the attack on the embassy were hospitalized. They were the press attache, Alexander Boase, who was seriously but not critically beaten, and Security Officer Carl Ackerman who was hit on the head but not seriously injured. Marine Sgt. William Sutton was sent home after receiving six stitches.

Other embassy personnel injured were Counselor Paul Meyer, cuts and bruises; Helen Volska, roughed up; Administrative Officer Howard Chaille, and messenger Frank Nesci, both slight injuries.

Most of the embassy personnel were away from the embassy for lunch at the time of the attack, and those inside avoided serious injury by taking refuge in the air raid shelter.

Air Employees Beaten

Most Americans encountering the mobs in the streets escaped, but two airline employees were reported to have been beaten when they came out of a restaurant on Taipei's main street.

The riots started after M. Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds of Colorado, Md., and Coatesville, Pa.—the man whose acquittal stirred the trouble—had left with his wife and 7-year-old daughter by chartered plane for Manila.

A U. S. court martial found the sergeant innocent yesterday of charges of involuntary manslaughter of a Chinese caught looking through a bathroom window while his wife was taking a shower. A guard of 67 armed police escorted Reynolds and his family to the airport.

The attack on the Embassy began soon after most of the staff had quit for lunch. Among those known to be inside, however, were administrative officer Howard Chaille, embassy messenger Frank Nesci and some Chinese assistants.

Telephones Ripped Out

Embassy Counselor James B. Pilcher was not in the area when the violence broke out, but he received telephoned reports from staff members before the demonstrators ripped out the telephones. Pilcher immediately sought an urgent meeting with Foreign Minister George Yeh.

The violent demonstration appeared to be localized around the embassy in downtown Taipei. The many Americans serving with military and aid missions in Formosa live in other sectors of the city and no incidents were reported elsewhere.

Followed Press Attacks

The outburst followed bitter attacks by Taipei newspapers against the acquittal of Reynolds. The papers termed the court-martial action a perversion of justice.

The court-martial board of five colonels and three master sergeants found the 42-year-old sergeant innocent after he testified he shot the Chinese, Liu Tze-jan, outside the American's home last March when Liu grabbed a stick and came at him.

Self Defense Claimed

Reynolds said the shooting occurred after his wife called to him from the shower and said someone was peeping in the bathroom window. He said he got his gun and rushed from the house, found the man at the window and shot him when the Chinese came toward him. The army prosecutor contended Reynolds had not acted in self defense.

Taipei papers quickly seized on the prosecution argument that Reynolds should have tried only to cripple the intruder, and also the prosecution contention that the Chinese did not necessarily mean to attack Reynolds.

Obviously, however, the mob was motivated as much or more by the fact that an American soldier had been exonerated by an American court for the killing of a Chinese.

City Power Shovel Damaged by Fire After Crew Quits

A power shovel of the city's public works department, engaged in the repaving of Hunter street, was damaged when gasoline ignited yesterday afternoon.

Cause of the blaze, which hit the gasoline tank of the unit, is unknown. Use of two 1½-inch pump lines and two 2½-inch hydrant streams were required to check the blaze which started while the shovel was near Ravine street.

A telephone call at 4:50 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 3231, German and Ravine streets. Units from Cornell, and Central stations, Rapid Hose Company and the Wicks salvage unit responded.

The cab and other parts of the shovel unit were damaged. Firemen were at the scene until 5:21 p. m.

The fire, which started, after workmen left the area, damaged the shovel to the extent that it will be out of use for some time, and will hamper progress of the city's street-repair program.

conjunction with this plea for sprinkler systems, the chief asserted that it should be the moral obligation of people in charge of public buildings to provide adequate protection — either through individual fire fighting forces or installation of fire protection such as afforded by sprinklers.

In conclusion, Chief Brett pointed out that precautions should be taken immediately — "that it is stupid to take precautions too late." He warned that Kingston is not immune to conflagrations, that the record of the past has been good, but that future steps in this growing community must be focused on changing conditions and the prevention of the loss of human life from fire and its direct causes.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Discusses Business Opportunities

Babson Park, Mass., May 24—During the past winter I have used my spare time trying to decide what industries have the best opportunities. Among these, the following seem the leaders. The oil industry, represented by any of the large companies. The chemical industry, in which I consider the American Agricultural Chemical Co. of Florida one of the best. Household heating by uranium. With American Radiator & Standard Sanitary the most conservative and National U. S. Radiator perhaps the best speculation. Electronics and thermodynamics, with Westinghouse Air Brake perhaps the best speculation. Earthmoving machinery, with Caterpillar Tractor the most speculative and International Harvester perhaps the most conservative purchase. The microwave industry, of which Hughes Products of Los Angeles and the Motorola Co. of Chicago are among the leaders. Greeting cards, with a Gibson, Hallmark, or Noncross trademark. The broadcasting of power for small kitchen utensils may be developed by the Radio Corporation of America.

Reasons for Selections

There are four basic factors which I am considering in selecting these industries:

Labor Shortage—This will continue due to the desire for four more years of education and for retirement at 65, and to other factors which will offset the population growth. This will further strengthen the power of labor unions.

Automation—At first glance this should cause unemployment, but automation will be so expensive that it will come about only slowly. Furthermore, although automation reduces greatly the number of employees needed, yet the quality of the employees needed will be considerably upgraded. Automation for many years will barely offset the possible shortage of labor under present conditions.

Inflation—We ought to fight inflation in any form, but it will slowly creep up on us, resulting in a gradual increase in the cost of living. Of course, if World War 3 should come, the value of the dollar will drop from 50 cents to 25 cents, but I am not looking for anything like this now.

Government Expenses—Barring World War III, they should hold fairly steady. The development of missiles should reduce defense expenses in both the Navy and Army. This should offset any increase arising from the growth of bureaucratic government.

Other Trends to Watch

Higher Education will be considered a necessity. Not only will teachers receive higher salaries, but they must work harder to earn the same by having double sessions, by the further use of television, and by proper grading. Anytime there may be discovered a completely new revolutionary system of education. Colleges will cease as residence schools and become day schools with elaborate parking facilities. Automobiles and parking—Unless the trend for larger cars and automobile accidents soon turn downward, with greatly increasing "4 lane" highways, the automobile industry will be leveling off. There will be more money in providing parking facilities than in the sale of automobiles.

Community churches—The Church is the hope of America, but young people are giving less attention to formal creeds and the old religious dogmas. Denominations are meaning less to the coming generation. I forecast a great growth in community churches attended by a large number of people of different denominations. Churches will be located adjacent to municipal playgrounds, lakes, rivers, etc.

Shopping centers for retail stores will be followed by brain centers for insurance companies, legal firms, architects, etc. The suburban population definitely will increase, attracting churches, YMCA's, and other organizations, as well as retail stores. As the working population grows and working hours lessen, the time given to sports will increase; in fact, the sale of sporting goods will increase. Stores in the downtown metropolitan cities will gradually appeal more to men who have not the time to visit shopping centers. With self-service properly developed, there will always be a field for self-service specialty stores, variety stores, and the up-to-date "dime store" in the dense downtown districts of all cities.

Destructive Visitor

Glasgow, Ky. (AP)—A wandering squirrel tried to convert E.

P. Ebert's home into a king-size cage while he was away. Returning from vacation, Ebert found the squirrel had entered the house and caused considerable damage trying to get out again. Fact is, he died trying. His body was found while Ebert totaled the damage—a broken lamp, chewed-up Venetian blinds, and 14 window pane frames, bitten off right down to the glass.

Rabid Rabbit

Lander, Wyo. (AP)—Wyoming rabbits are so tough they aren't even afraid of dogs. Ask Queenie, a 10-year-old rabbit hunter, whose owner, Sandy Jacobsen, tells this story: When Queenie cornered a rabbit in a field near Lander, the bunny turned on the dog and clamped its teeth firmly on her nose. As Queenie reared backward in surprise and pain, she lost her balance and rolled down a hill, with the rabbit still hanging on her snout. Then the rabbit bounced away, leaving Queenie with a new respect for rabbits and hardly any enthusiasm for hunting.

Bargain

Summerside, P. E. I. (AP)—Albert J. Milligan of nearby Colebrook says the pocket watch he bought for 98 cents, 40 years ago, is still going strong. He produced it here the other day and said he's never had to have it repaired, although he has oiled it occasionally.

Benny Going Home Today

Manorville, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—The frown of disappointment is off Benny Hooper's face—he's coming home here today.

The 7-year-old, who spent a night and a day trapped at the bottom of a well shaft, felt a little bit in the dumps yesterday when he was told he couldn't leave Bayview Hospital at nearby Mastic Beach until today.

"But I told Mike I'd be home today," he protested.

Mike is Michael Molinaro, his little neighbor playmate who sounded the alarm when Benny fell into the 24-foot well his father had dug in the back yard of their home. Benny was rescued a week ago tonight.

Benny, who was allowed out of his hospital bed for the first time yesterday, was due for some more rest in bed at home. It will be a few more days before he can return to school.

Giants Pay Visit

Dr. Joseph Kris said Benny was "a little wobbly" but "perfectly normal" as he took his first steps around his hospital room. There was a sling on his bruised left arm to rest it.

Benny's last day in the hospital was enlivened by a visit from Manager Bill Rigney and pitching ace Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants, his favorite ball club. They gave him an autographed baseball and a cap.

Would Keep Committee

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—An effort is being made by the self-styled dues protest committee of the United Steelworkers to set up a permanent organization. The action, revealed yesterday, came at the same time that Committee Chairman Don Rarick said the USW has taken reprisals against persons who supported him in his unsuccessful bid for the union presidency.

Nick Mamula of Aliquippa, Pa., secretary of the committee, said he has written members of the committee throughout the country asking them when and where they wish to meet.

Complete Job

Albuquerque (AP)—Lorenzo Lente of Albuquerque decided somebody didn't want him to drive his pickup truck one day recently when he found: Fertilizer in the gasoline tank, sand in the oil and a broken distributor.

New York Discusses Prisoner Transfer

New York, May 24 (AP)—Two city officials yesterday discussed transferring city prisoners from the New Hampton reformatory, Middletown, N. Y., in line with legislation authorizing the city to transfer the institution to the state.

The legislation was passed by the 1957 Legislature and signed by Gov. Averell Harriman. The actual transfer was made subject to a contract to be negotiated between the city and state.

Meeting here were City Budget Director Abraham D. Beame and City Correction Commissioner Anna M. Kross.

Beame said there were between 100 and 150 city prisoners at the reformatory. Asked about transferring them to city prisons and future plans for the Middletown institution, Beame said "everything will be worked out satisfactorily."

Freak Hand Makes Five

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Arthur Mackenzie of Brooklyn wants to know how you can transfer to diamonds when using both Stayman and the transfer bid.

You do it in two bids, not one.

North's two-club response was Stayman and South's rebid of two hearts correctly showed that he held four cards in that suit. North's second bid of three clubs said, "Forget about Stayman. My two-club bid was the start of a transfer to my suit, diamonds."

South's second rebid of three diamonds was the compulsory response to the transfer. North raised to four diamonds. He only held three points in high cards but he still wanted to be in five diamonds if South's no-trump included the right cards for him.

South went on to five diamonds. He knew that North would show up with a freak hand of some sort and that his aces and kings would be helpful. If his no-trump had been principally in queens and jacks he would have passed.

South had no trouble making five diamonds. He lost one trump and one club.

Farmers to Hold Milk for Money

Roxbury, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—About 50 dairy farmers in this Catskill mountain community are prepared to withhold milk if necessary to get more money, a Farmers Union organizer says.

Howard Ormsbee, the union's state organizer, said members of its tri-county local approved such action last night by a show of hands. He did not say whether there was any opposition.

Ormsbee said the farmers were "very much disappointed" in Secretary of Agriculture Benson's recent order for a single New York-New Jersey milk marketing order.

Ormsbee said this was the first of a series of meetings to be conducted by the union, a successor to the Dairy Farmers Union that led a milk strike in 1933. It claims between 6,000 and 8,000 members in New York state. The tri-county local has members in Delaware, Greene and Schoharie counties.

Quizzed Already

New York, May 4 (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate's special committee on labor-management racketeering, said the committee already has quizzed "resigned" city official Harvey L. Strelzin. Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced Wednesday that he had accepted the resignation of Strelzin, chairman of the City Board of Assessors drawing $17,500 a year. Strelzin said his letter to Wagner merely asked for a leave of absence so he could testify before the Senate committee.

Would you wait and save (perhaps for years) to buy a mink garment for someone you cherish, and then when the day finally arrives that you really can get her a MINK FUR; want to buy one that is made for a cheap Fur Sale?

Wouldn't you rather get a fur that is made of the finest pelts with the best of workmanship?

A GLASS FILLED TO THE BRIM

A reader writes: "At a dinner party the other evening, my wine glass was filled to the very brim and fearing that I would spill it all over my hostess's beautiful linen cloth, I leaned over and sipped the first mouthful from the glass without lifting it. After I did this, I felt the critical gaze of several of the guests on me and since then wondered whether I committed a breach of etiquette. Will you please tell me how I should have handled the situation?"

The fault was with that of whoever poured the wine, but I have to agree that seeing anyone lean so far over as to have her chin practically touch the tablecloth, was very strange. If you could have steadied your arm against the table's edge and lifted the glass over your own plate, then you could have leaned over your plate and sipped the wine.

Answering Someone to Move Over
Dear Mrs. Post: When eating at a lunch counter, is it proper to ask a person who is sitting with an empty seat on either side of him, to move over so that two friends may sit together?

Answer: If the person is young and has not too many dishes in front of him, it would not be unreasonable to ask him if he would mind moving so that you and your friend can sit together.

Three Fires Keep Yonkers Forces Busy During Night

Yonkers, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Yonkers firemen had a busy time from midnight to dawn today—two homes set afire by lightning, a store fire and a false alarm.

Five firemen were overcome by smoke in one fire. A woman was injured in a fall escaping from another.

About midnight, a bolt hit the roof of the large residence of Mrs. Barbara Parsons, a New York city stock broker, at 158 Alto Ave., in the fashionable Park Hill section. Flames damaged the roof. Three alarms were sounded.

While firemen were fighting that fire, a bolt struck the home of James E. Hall at 6 Halycon Pl., damaging the upper part. The five firemen were overcome in this fire. Hall owns a trucking firm and is chairman of the Yonkers Municipal Housing Authority.

Then came a false alarm at 12:30 a. m. from Midland Ave. and Yonkers Ave.

At 6 a. m., two alarms were sounded for a fire of undetermined origin in Eddie's Confectionery Store in a three-story store and apartment building at 275 S. Broadway. Mrs. Carmella Guerra, 58, an upstairs tenant, suffered slight injuries in a fall downstairs while fleeing from the smoke.

Ask Opinion Vacated

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court has been asked to vacate its opinion that it would eventually let Negroes attend Girard College in Philadelphia. In a petition yesterday, the Board of City Trusts of Philadelphia said the court's "per curiam" opinion announced April 29 was made without giving the board a chance to "utter a word or submit an argument." The board is trustee of the will of the school's founder. Partly on the ground, the board asked the court to either to vacate its opinion and dismiss the case or vacate it and put the case on the tribunal's calendar for arguments.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a note from Bernard Quirk, Box 213, Ulster county, who writes: "As I do not remember. Will you please send me a recipe for making plain English toffee, or similar used to make toffee apples. I have been told, Kingston Freeman printed one some time ago." He enclosed a stamped, addressed envelope for answer, which I appreciate, only I do not have the information for him, perhaps some of the readers can help him.

Had a call from several readers on the Brooklyn Bridge item. Mrs. Herdman of Hurley avenue, who has lived in Kingston some 75 years, says, she remembers when her father-in-law, James Herdman, a blacksmith, used to make tools for cutting the stone for the bridge. She mentioned Luke Noone's yard and how the bluestone was put on large wagons with four horses and they had a blue stone track to follow so they would not cut into the road. Miss Mary A. Schaeffer, librarian of Kingston Library, saw the column and looked through a book called "Builders of the Brooklyn Bridge." She said very little is given about material from Kingston, but she did run across a line in which they mention, "Granite from Maine, limestone from Kingston" and other places.

From time to time I receive interesting letters and information on columns which have appeared here, although the writers do not wish their material used. It is sent to me, just for my own knowledge. At this time, I wish to thank them, and tell them, that I receive those letters, but am sorry I cannot use the material, as some of it is very enlightening and interesting.

The other day there was made mention that back in the 1880's Poole and Luther were awarded the contract to erect the George Weber monument in Montrose Cemetery for the late ex-fire chief engineer. According to an advertisement in the Kingston Argus of Wednesday, September 13, 1882, Poole and Luther removed their marble-works to 642-644 Union avenue, near Elmendorf street. They had been in business some 30 years at the time and were experts in making monuments and headstones in marble and granite. The item was signed by F. W. Poole and H. B. Luther.

Another advertisement about a craftsman in his own line was Lewis the veteran photographer, who had 14 years experience back in 1882. He employed first class assistants and had lowest prices. He made up photo cards for only $1.00 per dozen. Panels were $4.00 per dozen. Ferrootypes (card size) were 8 for 60 cents. Cabinet portraits were $3.00 per dozen. Ferrootypes (Vic. size) were 2 for 50 cents. His studio was open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. He did crayon, ink and water color portraits also. His gallery was at the old place, corner Wall and John streets over Forsyth and Wilson's. Horse cars passed his door.

I wonder how many folks remember Short's studio down at 9 East Strand. Back in the 1914 Kingston City Directory, Isabel, a photographer, is listed as well as Lorenzo her father. I guess most of us in Rondout had our pictures taken down there. Miss Short used to take special size we called "Pin-pons." They were four different poses on a strip seven inches long by two and a half inches. I think we received 20 or 30 pictures for around 50 cents. They were very sharp and clear, made with her very fine old-fashioned equipment.

Saugerties Church Awards Contract To Repair Steeple

A contract was awarded to repair the steeple of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atone ment at a cost of approximately $800 at a special meeting of the congregation Sunday, it was announced by the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor.

The low bid accepted was submitted by Smith Parish Company of Kingston.

Replacements Necessary

Most of the tin flashing and gutters around the bell section of the steeple will need replacing and probably some beams which have become rotten through the years, according to Pastor Crossland. Although the bid is for more than $800, Pastor Crossland pointed out that the cost will be more than that, because of the necessary painting and plastering that will have to be done in several parts of the church, where the leakage has done extensive damage.

Pastor Crossland, who presided at the meeting, informed the congregation of the major projects that are now confronting the congregation, namely, the matter of the parsonage and the parish house.

He said, "Both problems are very complex and will take much serious study before any long-range satisfactory solution can be achieved. For that reason, the only renovation ready to be undertaken now is the steeple. It is hoped by the fall that some final reports and recommendations can be made on the other matters.

Expect More Classes

"It is expected," he told the congregation, "that the Sunday church school will have at least five more classes in September, without taking into account any new enrollments and the many children that will move from the Cradle. Roll into the church school."

In conclusion he pointed out, "that we must not just keep meeting these problems on a year-to-year basis, but we must begin to plan and work out solutions that will solve the growing needs of the congregation for many years to come."

Work is expected to begin shortly.

Harriman Favors Gains Made by Labor, He Says

New York, May 24 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman said Thursday "there will be no right-to-work laws in New York state as long as I am governor."

He addressed 300 delegates at a district conference of the United Steelworkers of America in the Hotel New Yorker. He was warmly applauded.

"Right-to-work" laws in effect in some states stipulate that a person need not be a union member as a condition of employment. Union sources contend the term is a misnomer and that they are "union wrecking" laws. "We are not going to let the clock be turned back but we will hold the gains made by labor over the years," Harriman said. "It is important, my friends, that we show the reactionaries that labor is not afraid, regardless of what is happening in other states."

The Democrat criticized Republicans in the state Legislature for what he called "sugar coating" in favor of business and industry.

Because of pollution and other causes, the Atlantic catch of shad, thus shad roe, declined from 50 million pounds in 1897 to 9,742,000 pounds in 1955.

Mixed Motives Bringing Many To Hear Graham

New York, May 24 (AP)—Mixed motives today are bringing thousands of New Yorkers to hear the gospel preached — many of whom haven't been inside a church in years.

The man behind the pulpit is Billy Graham, but he himself says his only message is the Bible, and every minister has one. So what is it that brings those who usually aren't interested in the subject?

All Kinds of Answers

You get all kinds of answers from the assorted people flocking to Madison Square Garden tonight—18,000 of them last night—but the most frequently heard reasons are these:

1. The possibility of resolving some inner problem.
2. Curiosity.
3. Invited by a friend.
4. Desire to demonstrate support for the crusade.

Listen in on a few replies to the question:

Diann Cyre, a Manhattan strip-tease dancer: "I'm in show business, and I just wanted to find out why so many people come to hear about a story that's 2,000 years old. Is it showmanship or what he says?"

Harry Roskolenko, of Manhattan, a novelist: "I'm spiritually interested. I have my own private sort of religion, and I'm wondering what this man's appeal is. Is it a personality thing, or are the people starved inwardly and trying to find out what's what?"

Sure of Some Good

Mrs. Edythe Hammel, a church-going Brooklyn housewife: "I came because I think it's going to do me some good. I think this man is going to bring religion back to the country, and that's what I need."

Harry Johnson, a gray-haired Brooklyn gas station attendant, not a church member: "I've been down in the dumps lately and I thought maybe this man might tell me what's wrong."

Arlene Bodnoff, 17, one of four pretty Bronx teen-age girls who said they belonged to no church or synagogue: "We heard so much about it, we just wanted to see it for ourselves."

Lila Cherney, of Queens, a good-looking young woman: "I want to see what he says or does to make people say 'I receive Jesus.' I'm not a very religious person myself."

W. F. Fisher, of Peterborough, Canada: "Graham is admired very much in Canada, and I was in England last year, and found he had made a lasting impression there, too. I was just on my way back to Canada from the south, and stopped over to hear him."

765 Make Decision

So it goes. As for the varying motives, Graham tells the crowds:

"It makes no difference why you came. If it was curiosity, that's all right. Many people came to Christ originally out of curiosity."

Out of Graham's huge congregation last night, 765 of them filed to the front of the arena in his concluding appeal to "humbly surrender your life to Christ."

This brought the total of such decisions in nine nights to 5,835. For his text, Graham used Proverbs 23:7 "For as he (a man) thinketh in his heart, so is he." The evangelist declared that "all of our hearts have a spiritual disease"—a blight of sin.

Grand Jurors Hit Order of Judge, To Take Action

Rochester, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—A dozen members of a Monroe county grand jury, who say they were "gagged," have criticized an order by a Supreme Court judge keeping secret a presentment on local government agencies.

The group, which includes foreman Bernard W. Weiland, said yesterday they might take legal action to make public the report.

The presentment, along with 23 indictments, was handed up to Justice Charles B. Brasser yesterday by the 18-member grand jury.

Judge Brasser told a reporter after the jury disbanded that he ordered the presentment sealed because "there is no authority for a grand jury to criticize a public official or a department of government unless evidence justifies the finding of an indictment, in which case an indictment should be found."

He said his action was not based "on the merits" of the report.

Look for Lawyer

The group of jurors told a reporter they might institute a citizen's action as a test case "if we can find a lawyer willing to fight for us."

They said they also would consider forming a citizens' committee to determine the rights of a grand jury to report on government agencies.

"We feel we were gagged, and our findings unduly kept from the public," they said. "Our presentment was handed up to let the residents of Monroe county know what the grand jury found in its investigations concerning the administration and activities of certain city and county governmental agencies."

Can't See Reason

"We did not criticize a public official. There was nothing detrimental to any public official. It was a constructive statement of our findings. We see no reason why the judge should have sealed it."

Judge Brasser and Supreme Court Justice Daniel J. O'Mara said in an interview a week ago that they thought it was all right for grand juries to compliment public officials and agencies but not to criticize them. Judge O'Mara said he felt that a grand jury "had no business" criticizing a public official or agency.

Onteora Assembly Observes Teacher Recognition Day

More than 600 elementary grade pupils of Onteora Central School conducted an assembly program Tuesday in honor of Teacher Recognition Day. Grades one through six attended.

Featured in the assembly were a number of children of each grade level who performed various square dances, tumbling routines, and human pyramids. Group singing of several patriotic songs was led by three children—Cheryl Borden, Edith Van De Bort and Stephen Moncure.

Special Honors

Highlighting the assembly was the honor bestowed upon Mrs. Marguerite Morrissey, fourth grade teacher, who is retiring this June after 52 years of teaching in New York state. Ronald P. Vanni, elementary principal, and former cadet teacher of Mrs. Morrissey, spoke of the value of the teaching profession. Mrs. Mary Cawston, first grade teacher, presented Mrs. Morrissey with a scroll of appreciation on behalf of the Onteora Teachers Association. A gift of flowers was also given.

The children marched to and from the assembly to the music of the junior band, directed by Harry Simon and composed of pupils of the 5th and 6th grades. The singing was accompanied by Miss Winifred Bateman. The gymnastics were led by Andrew Shekita and Dixon McGrath served as master of ceremonies.

Poughkeepsie Elks Blank Saugerties, 5-0, in NY-NJ Opener

Middies Jolt KHS, 10-3

Kingston High's faint hopes of winning the DUSO League baseball championship are all but dead today. Cellar-dwelling Middletown High saw to that yesterday as they walloped the Maroons, 10-3, at Dietz Stadium.

It was the Middies first league win this season after five reverses. Kingston's mark is 3-3. The locals trail co-leaders Newburgh and Poughkeepsie by two full games and the most they can hope for now is a tie.

Clark Fires One-Hitter
Sophomore Tom Clarke, former Babe Ruth League standout, checked Kingston with a one-hitter. He struck out six and walked the same number.

Left-hander Bob Beadle opened on the mound for KHS and was charged with the loss. Joe Beaver took over after Beadle hurled the first four innings and finished up. Together, they were tapped for eight hits, including Clark's triple which was the lone extra base hit of the game. Eight errors led to KHS's downfall. Six of them were committed in the last inning and gave the Middies six runs and broke-up a tight 4-3 duel. Middletown didn't get a hit in the uprising as it paraded 11 men to the plate.

Middies Get Lead
The Middies jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first featured by singles off the bats of John Barber, Bill Marx, Dick Lundgren, John Howell and Tony Bellotto. They added another marker in the fourth on Clarke's triple and Russ Russo's single.

Kingston broke into the scoring column in the bottom of the frame when Hobie Armstrong, who had walked to open the round, scooted home from third on a wild pitch.

In the sixth, the locals scored twice more to get close. Wilderness on the part of Clarke was instrumental in getting the runs across. Dave O'Connor got the Maroons one and only hit to launch the rally. Successive walks to Armstrong and Beaver and a couple of wild pitches did the rest of the damage.

Kingston plays Newburgh here Monday.

Akins 7-5 Pick Over Beecham

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Virgil Akins, the St. Louis veteran, was an early 7-5 favorite to defeat Jimmy Beecham of Miami in their 10-round welterweight bout at Capitol Arena tonight (9 p. m. EST, NBC).

Support for the 22-year-old Beecham rested on past conquests of the once highly regarded Hector Constance and on recent creditable performances. But it wasn't enough to offset the liking for Akins' experience and punching ability.

Akins, 29, is fourth or fifth ranked challenger for Carmen Basilio's welter crown, depending on whom you consult—Ring Magazine or the National Boxing Assn. Beecham is unranked, and a craving for recognition prompted him to take the Akins fight on short notice.

Colgate Elects Boccuzzi

Hamilton, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Ted Boccuzzi, a sprinter and javelin thrower from Stamford, Conn., has been elected captain of the 1958 Colgate track team. Coach Jack Warner announced the election yesterday. Boccuzzi, a junior, also is captain of the indoor track squad and a football halfback.

Poughkeepsie Elks, the 1956 champions of the New York-New Jersey League, won their second straight last night, blanking the Saugerties Dutchmen, 5 to 0, in the seasonal opener at Riverview Field.

More than 400 fans attended the opener and were treated to an exhibition of clowning by the incomparable Al Schacht.

Alderman Van Tine tossed out the first ball officially launching the season. Fred Davi, vice-president, represented the New York New Jersey League.

Gardner Fans 13

Mt Gardner, the Pittsfield ace, pitched a three-hitter and struck out 13 to gain the decision over Clark Mains.

The Elks settled the issue as early as their first turn at bat when they hopped on Mains for three hits and scored three times before the Port Ewen veteran had a chance to get his bearings.

Mains, who struck out seven and walked four, yielded only two hits and two runs over the next five innings but the contest had been resolved. The game was called on account of rain at the end of seven and one-half innings.

Fans The Side

Gardner, a steady winner for the Elks in 1956, throttled the lone Saugerties threat by striking out the side in the fifth. Ray Rhodes walked, Bill Goff singled and Bud Miller was safe when Gardner mopped up his sacrifice bunt. That loaded the sacks with none out but the Dutchmen's bid for a big inning faded when Gardner fanned Mains, Mike White and Pete Dyshuk in succession.

Ed Anderson touched off Poughkeepsie's three-run first inning with a double. Bates popped out and Gene McClelland walked. Bob McKenna's single scored Anderson. Mains' wildness hurt when he plunked Husted with a pitch loading the bases and walked Rikert forcing in a tally. Fred Schmallberger's single drove in the third run of the inning.

Bill Goff's two-base error on Bates' grounder and McKenna's infield single produced an Elk tally in the second. Bates was hit by a pitched ball for the second time in the seventh, moved to third on a double 'play and scored on Husted's 'play to left.

Bob McKenna rapped a pair of singles for the Elks. The three Saugerties hits—all singles—went to Hubie Barber, Jim Meadlock and Bill Goff.

Ellenville Nine Clinches Tie for Title

Blue Devils Rout Fallsburgh, 14-3, Behind Gorman

Ellenville Central clinched at least a tie for the village DUSO League baseball championship by routing Fallsburgh Central, 14-3, yesterday.

Bob Gorman pitched a handsome four-hitter as the Blue Devils copped their fourth loop win in five games. They can sew up the title Monday at home with a victory over Monticello.

Ellenville iced the contest early, scoring eight runs in the second inning. Gorman helped his own cause with a solo home run which ignited the uprising. Then came key doubles by Larry Gray, Sam Painter and Charlie Kushner and singles by Tom Brown and Frank Marchese. Most of the damage was done with two outs.

Fallsburgh Scoring
Fallsburgh, which went into the game tied with Ellenville for first, got all their runs and hits in the first and last innings. In between, Gorman held them hitless. The Comets' only extra base hit was catcher Dragonchuck's triple in the first which was sandwiched between hits by Larry Kotin and Borko and helped get Fallsburgh off to a 2-0 lead.

Gorman struck out 10 and walked two. He was aided by a third inning double play from Kushner to Painter to first baseman Ben Davis. His mates made two errors, as compared to four for the losers.

Fairbrother started for Fallsburgh, but was chased from the mound in the middle of the eight-run rumpus. Teddy Kaplan took over and finished up.

Maroon Golfers Edge
NFA's Linksmen, 6½-5½

Kingston High's golf squad virtually clinched the DUSO League title Thursday, edging Newburgh Academy, 6½ to 5½, in a rugged match in which no player broke 40 on the tough Powelton links.

The victory was the sixth in eight starts, with one tie, for Coach Harold Hathaway's divot diggers. The Maroons' flag hopes rest on the outcome of Poughkeepsie High matches at Liberty and Newburgh.

Bob Roos and Ted Bruhn, with two and one-half points each, were the big guns in Kingston's victory. Dave Eyles and Mike Bruhn picked up a half point each.

Kelder Named State LL Tournament Director

Finals Slated During August At Ellenville

Vernon J. Kelder, Ellenville attorney and District 3 representative of National Little League, has been appointed New York State tournament director for 1957, national headquarters of Little League at Williamsport has announced.

The state championship finals will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 9-10, at the Ellenville Little League field.

Kelder's job will be to coordinate district eliminations and handle all arrangements for the championship finals at Ellenville.

To Broadcast Finals
The finals will be broadcast over Station WALL of Middletown, with Harry Thayer, editor and publisher of the Ellenville Press, at the mike.

Frank Muller, editor of the Ellenville Journal; Charles J. Tiano, sports editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman; and Maurice F. Hamilton, editor of the Woodstock Press, have been named members of the press committee for the tournament.

District tournaments designed to qualify teams for the Ellenville finals begin throughout the state on July 27. District championships will be crowned on or about July 29.

Finals in Kingston
The local district championship will be played at the 156th Field Artillery LL diamond on Manor avenue. The designation of Kingston as the playing site is in recognition of the Kingston Americans' fine showing in the 1956 tournament when they advanced to the sectional finals at Port Chester. They were defeated by East Chester which eventually went to Williamsport for the Little World Series.

For World Series tournament purposes, the state has been divided into four sections. Ulster and Dutchess county teams are in Section 3. District winners in Section 3 will go to Haverstraw on or about Aug. 5. The other sectional winners will be determined in western New York at Liverpool (Section 1); Albany (Section 2) and at Port Washington, L. I. (Section 4).

All of the New England states, parts of Canada, New Jersey and Pennsylvania make up Region 1, which includes all of the eastern section of the United States.

Finals in New York
At the conclusion of the sectional competition in New York state there will be four winners. These four teams go to Ellenville for the Aug. 9-10 competition. Two of these teams will be eliminated Friday afternoon Aug. 9, in a doubleheader. The survivors play for the state title the next afternoon.

The Ellenville winners proceed to New York city where the Regional championships will be played in the metropolitan area on Aug. 16-17.

The New York Daily News and columnist Jimmy Powers will sponsor the Regional tournament. Powers and members of the radio and state press are expected to converge on Ellenville for the state finals.

Popular Choice
Kelder was elected District 3 representative in 1956 when national headquarters gave leagues around the country the right to organize and make their own rules districts.

In 1956 the local district consisted of nine leagues in Ulster county; three in Kingston (American, National, Jaycees), Saugerties, Glasco-East Kingston, Town of Esopus Legion Little League, Highland, Kerhonkson-Accord, Ellenville, Fallsburgh, Pine Bush and Walden.

Kelder was re-elected in 1957 reorganization in a spirited contest with Bob Beal of Poughkeepsie. The district was enlarged to include 11 leagues from Dutchess county and during the interim new leagues in High Falls-Rosendale, Town of Hurley, Town of Ulster and Woodstock Township.

Haughton Wins 4

Duane Hanover In Front in Good Time Pace

Yonkers, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Billy Haughton, the nation's leading money winner harness racing driver, and a 5-year-old horse named Duane Hanover gave 27,019 fans plenty to talk about last night at Yonkers Raceway.

Haughton won four races including the $27,750 Good Time Pace with Duane Hanover in a Roman chariot finish that had six horses near the wire in the fastest mile time of the season for a half mile oval.

The crowd hardly had settled down from the excitement in the Good Time, when Haughton, of Brookville, N. Y., came back in the sixth, a $10,000 event with some of the nation's fastest trotters, and won with Trader Horn, equalling the Yonkers track record.

Clocked 2:00 3/5
Duane Hanover, a son of Knight Dream, stepped the mile in 2:00 3/5, just short of the 1:59 4/5 track record set in 1955 by Adios Boy, as he came from third place in the early going to overhaul the favored Adios Harry and win by a head over Dottie's Pick. Adios Harry was the 4/5 favorite.

Dottie's Pick, the second choice was three parts of a length ahead of Diamond Hal, the 1956 Good Time winner. Then, only heads separated Diamond Hal, Adios Harry and Chief Lenawee. Even then it was close, as Chief Lenawee got fifth by only a neck over Torrid.

Duane Hanover is a family proposition, owned by the Pine Acre Farm of John W. Karl, Sr., John W., Jr., Adolf, Henry and Frieda Karl, all of Garden City, N. Y., on Long Island. They got the horse for $9,000 in 1955 from Kyler Luman, Adams, N. Y., and in 1956 Duane Hanover won the Empire State classics, a series of four double-heat races at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Vernon, N. Y. Ironically, Duane Hanover had won exactly $9,000 so far this season, but he had "paid out" in 1956 when he earned $78,663 for his new owners.

Trader Horn was clocked in 2:01 4/5 for the mile, equalling the track mark set by Darn Safe on May 10. Darn Safe finished fourth last night.

Haughton had gotten off with a $27,400 winner, Alex Bay, in the second race, before his fancy scores in the fifth and sixth.

Haughton got his fourth victory in the eighth on Longway paying $11. Duane Hanover paid $15.10 and Trader Horn $9.20.

Board Will Consider Protest on School Use

Whitesboro, N. Y., May 24 (AP)

A school board will hold a special meeting next Wednesday to consider a protest against use of public school buildings for released-time religious classes.

Five residents of the Whitesboro Central School District in Oneida county have asked the board to halt the classes. They have been held in the school buildings for the last 10 years by Roman Catholic Churches and several Protestant denominations. Pupils are released from regular school activities to attend the classes voluntarily.

The five objectors included one who said he was a Unitarian and another who said he was Jewish. The religious affiliations of the others were not available. They filed their letter of protest with the board last Tuesday.

Kenneth Greaser, attorney for the school district, said it was his opinion the protest would be upheld if it were taken to court. "School buildings cannot be used for religious purposes," he said.

James Guthe, a Unitarian and one of the signers of the protest, said yesterday: "By teaching religion in the school we are segregating the children, labeling them either Catholic or Episcopalian, or Baptist, or Methodist, and causing religion to be a deep separation. The children automatically think that they are in a different group."

The Rev. Kenneth Bowser, a Presbyterian minister, said he doubted that Protestants could continue the classes if barred from the school buildings. He said the churches were not accessible to the schools.

The district, south of Utica, has about 4,000 pupils. Accidents in the U. S. decrease in the spring, but June is the peak month for injuries and fatalities.

ALSO SERVEDSyria Will Pull Out Troops From Jordan Sector

Damascus, Syria, May 24 (AP) — A government official said today Syria is pulling its troops out of Jordan at the request of King Hussein's government.

From 3,000 to 5,000 Syrian soldiers are stationed in northern Jordan. The Syrian official said Jordanian Foreign Minister Samir Rifai asked them to leave in a note yesterday and orders had already gone out for the withdrawal.

The Syrian troops have been in northern Jordan since last fall, ostensibly to protect the neighboring Arab kingdom from Israeli attack. Syria had denied reports that Hussein asked the troops to leave during last month's political turmoil in Jordan, which the King blamed on extremist and Communist elements stirred up by Syria and Egypt.

Goat-Roping One Of Action Events At Horse Show

Something new and thrilling for the area is scheduled on the program of the Lowlands Ranch Club horse show June 2—a goat roping exhibition.

This was announced today by James H. McCabe, club president, who said from Moe Camhi, just returned from Mexico, would be starred in the exhibition. The show will be held at Pardee's Spring Lake lot, starting at 9:30 a. m. There are 21 entries listed for events which will run for the greater part of the day.

President McCabe said that the Sunday affair is expected to attract many horsemen and horse fanciers from many parts of the Hudson valley.

"We have a great show lined up," he stressed "and the committee is confident that there will be a pleasurable time for all who attend."

"This goat-roping feature should furnish plenty of thrills," he declared. "We're all waiting to see Moe Camhi in action.

"Goat-roping is similar to the calf-roping events that are popular rodeo features—only there's a lot more action with a bucking goat."

Isadore Epstein, treasurer of the Lowlands Ranch Club, said he hoped that there would be a large attendance to help swell funds of the organization, which shares proceeds with various charitable causes.

Why We Say--

WHEN we refer to the 'high seas' we mean all seas which are not the property of a particular country (beyond the three-mile limit). The word 'high' here is in its older meaning of 'public' as it is also used in highways which are really 'public' ways.

Success nowadays is making more money to pay the taxes which you would not be paying if you had not made so much money already.

Four young internes obediently followed the hospital surgeon on his rounds. Coming to a man who looked rather fearfully at them the surgeon ordered all four internes to examine the patient. After they all had carefully looked the man over they were asked: Surgeon—Would you operate in this case? All four apparently missed something for they said that they would not.

The surgeon then declared triumphantly—Surgeon—You are all wrong. I am going to operate tomorrow.

Patient (tossing covers aside and placing one leg out of the bed).—No, ye ain't. Four to one majority is good enough for me.

Governor Will Send Citations To Hurley Men

Four of the town of Hurley's "Senior Citizens" being honored at a dinner Saturday night will receive Certificates of Good Citizenship signed by Gov. Averell Harriman, it was announced today by J. J. Carroll, president of the Hurley Democratic Club.

In a letter to Mr. Carroll the governor has expressed his regrets that he will be unable to attend the dinner honoring Robert Stoutenburg, Gustav Nussbaum, Ambrose Maxon and Joseph McSpirt, explaining that he has agreed to address a dinner in Orange county that evening.

He said, however, that he was "delighted to send Certificates of Good Citizenship to the Senior Citizens being honored that night... My best wishes for a most successful evening."

The certificates are awarded for having "exercised the duties and privilege of citizenship in voting in national, state and local elections for more than 50 consecutive years."

The principal address at the dinner, which will begin at 7:30 p. m. at Preis's Pinewood Lodge, Hurley, will be delivered by Ross K. Osterhoudt, well-known Stone Ridge insurance man.

Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. with music by Joseph's Music Makers. Reservations may be made at the Hurley Hotel, Hurley, or through Mr. Carroll or Harry Waage.
